If You Want To Have Multiple Blogs, How Many Should You Have?

A question that a number of Internet marketers ask when they think about taking advantage of blogging as a method of marketing their business is, "If I want to set up multiple blogs, how many is a good number"?

The biggest objection to running multiple blogs is time! It is quite pointless if after you set up several different blogs you are then pushed for time to regularly update them with fresh content, giving the multiple blogs insufficient nourishment that they need to grow.
