

Published based on Stop Trying To Make Millions Online Before You Have Broken Even

Stop Trying To Make Millions Online Before You Have Broken Even

Ever heard of the saying that you should not try to run before you have learned to walk?

The same thing applies to achieving business success on the Internet.

Every day thousands of people go online with some kind of affiliate marketing deal or instant website package with vague expectations to make millions online on nothing more than hot air and idle promises.

If you are one of those people - stop kidding yourself! Wake up! You cannot make millions online with Internet marketing until you learn how to stop losing money.

Make "break even" your first goal. Set a deadline for when you will achieve that aim. If you are a complete beginner, give yourself a few months or even a year in which to achieve that aim. Now go and work your tail off to achieve it. (Yeah, sorry to burst your little balloon, but all that talk about earning thousands of dollars while you sleep is irrelevant to you at this stage. You must WORK at your business. Work. Work. Work.)

Click here to read the full article:

\(Make Millions Online\)

You can also find this article published on Stop Trying To Make Millions Online Before You Have Broken Even, and on the tag pages business success on the Internet, Google Adsense, make millions online.