The Indirect Approach To Internet Network Marketing

My previous article discussed the direct approach to promoting a network marketing business on the internet. This article will cover how to promote the same business but with an indirect approach.

The indirect approach to Internet network marketing

The indirect approach means you first build a relationship with your leads and not mention your internet marketing program at all in the early stages. Rather, you present some other product that will appeal to your leads but is related to the same niche as your network marketing program.
