Use Skype To Talk To The World And Tell Them You Are Available For Business

If you're an internet marketer who thinks you can hide behind your blog, write anonymous articles and be earning several thousand dollars every month doing it while remaining invisible and unknown to anyone, it's about time you woke up.

I literally mean that, and I'll explain why in a minute.

For starters, anyone wishing to start blogging today is going to face some serious competition with over 15 million new blogs being started every month. Instead of following the crowd, you need to be doing everything possible to separate yourself from the crowd and be different in order to get yourself noticed.
