How To Use Web Traffic Exchange Downline Builders

As soon as you sign up to a web traffic exchange site, you are instantly given an affiliate code and you can receive extra credits or even commissions whenever you introduce a new user to the traffic exchange.

Many traffic exchanges include "a downline builder" in their arsenal of tools. As its name implies, a downline builder is created for those who use several other traffic exchange websites. When you click on the downline builder link on your traffic exchange, it will open up a directory of many other traffic exchanges available for you to sign up to. If you are already signed up there, then you can enter your affiliate code in the allocated areas on the downline builder list.
